VER the long battle lines of Eudope comparative quiet prevails today, except in Belgium, where the still undecided conflict continues with deadly fury.

On the Servian border sharp cided conflict continues with deadly fury.

On the Servian border sharp fighting is in pregress and the Turks are in action against the Russians, but on the main positions through France, along the east Prussian border and in Galicia fixere apparently is a luit. On the success or failure of the German attempt to force a way to the Euglish channel at whatever cost amy depend the future of the campaign not only in Beigium but elsewhere. RPFORTS NONCOMMITTAL—

Teday's official French sintement, the only suffermoon, sketched out a battle line which adhered closely to that previously reported, in contrast with yesterday's frank admission of a German advance, including the capture of Dixmole, the French statement of today was moncommittal. Fighting continues with violence on the western end of the line, it is said, but there are no indications whether the Germans have succeeded in pushing further their advance. It is assumed in all quarters that the atmost except of the allies would be expended in efforts to built the Germans movement west of Dixmole, as, the cond lies straight to Dunkirk, on the channel.

Minor engangements are reported at other points on the line, but apparently there have been no movements of note.

ATTEMPT TO CHUSH SERVIA—

Along the Servian border the only point from which heavy fighting is reported, the Austrians are muking a determined effort to crush Servia and complete the empaning before the apening of winter.

Austrian assertions that her troops had defented the Servians and were carrying the fighting well on Servian solt, found partial confirmation in official information from Nish, where it is admitted that the Servians mbandoned same positions along the northern horder for strategic reasons.

SERBS CLAIM VICTORY—

A decisive victory, however, is claimed by the Servians who crossed the progress along the western and northern horders houndaries. A force of 6000 Austrians who crossed the papende at a point 20 miles from Belgrade, the Servian war office

RUSSIAN PURSUIT SLACKENS—The Russian pursuit of the fire

mans sloug the Silesian frontier has sinchened and the Germans are strengthening their positions along the line of border fortreases in an expectation of an attempted Russian invasion.

Petrograd makes the statement

Petrograd makes the statement that the retreat of the Germans was due to the fullure of their crown prince, in command of the center, to hold his position. Both Gen. Von Hindenburg, in the north, and Gen. Bankl, in charge of the Austrian forces in Gallein, are said to have held hork the Russians are Austrian forces in Gallein, are said to have held back the Russians until the retreat of the crown princes forces compelled them to fall back to avert disaster. Another report, which also may possibly be classed as gossip, is to the effect that Gen. Dankl, displeased by the recent course of events, is moving south across Gallein and has refused to cooperate further with the German stall. Austria admits the withdrawal of her troops from western Gallein, and the twestment of Przemysl for the second time by the Russians.

TORIVEDO HOAT CAPTURED—
Fighting between Russian and Turkish armies on the border is apparently still in progress. The Russians claim to be routing the Turks which attempted to make an enveloping movement. A Turkish torpedo boat, according to a disputch from Aliens, has been captured off the ocast of Asia Misor.

HECKLING PARLIAMENT—
With the reassembling of the British parliament, it becomes apparent that the sovermously will be heckled, notwithstanding the disposition of the opposition to support the premier as major policies, during the continuation of the war. The government's conduct of haval matters probably will be the to have held back the Russiaus unmayal matters probably will be the subject of the most pointed question which the enhinet members will be called upon to answer.

The ancess of the German apy system and the sending of a British force to doomed Antwerp also have given rise to criticism of the goverament. England's recent feeling of optimism was altered by the latest German naval feat of sending a submarine to the shore of England and sinking the torpedo

U. S. CRUISER SAFE—
The American cruiser North Carolina, one of the two warships sent to the relief of Americans in Europe, is safe in the harbor at Belrut, with the Tennessee, her campanion ship, it is learned by

The British and Francis ambussadors here have presented separately notes notifying the United States of their representations to Ecuador and Colombia. No request was made for action on the part of the United States, but the hope was expressed that the American government would be able to impress upon the South American states the value of strict neutrality.

The two South American countries are charged with having permitted wireless mersages to go 40 German ships and of allowing the German fleet to coul in their territory.

It was considered not unlikely, however, that the American government would notify Ecuador and Colombia of the receipt of the British and Franch notes.

Dr. Powell says that while hunting in the Sierra Nevadas an old indian called the fact to his attention. Takine a feather from a qualt he was the indian held it before the physician's eyes and put his hand up to the light.
